Caught Being Good Behavior Incentive

I just found these cute miniature clothespins with a little red heart attached. They’re going to make great behavior incentives! Tell the children at the beginning of class that you have them. If they are “caught being good” at any time during class, you will pin one on them. If any student collects five (for example), you will allow them to choose an item from the treasure chest.

You can play the “caught being good” game even if you don’t have cute clothespins. Use stickers . . . or little “caught being good” tickets that you will find on the following page.
