

Decorate the Christmas Tree

To prepare this review game, cut out the tree and each ornament, and put clear contact paper on both sides.

Put the empty Christmas tree on the wall, and explain that it REALLY looks sad because it has no decorations. Divide the class into two teams and assign them either red or green decorations. Ask a review question. The child who quietly raises his hand and gives you the correct answer gets to come and put one of his team's decorations on the tree (using a small piece of tape or plastic tac). After you have finished asking all of your review questions, the team with the most decorations on the tree wins!

Variation: For small children, you can play this game or use it as a motivation for good behavior. Put the empty tree on the wall at the beginning of class. Give each child a decoration to keep until the end of class. If he has behaved in a good way during the entire class, he gets to come and put it on the Christmas tree.
